

Gotovcova O.A.

Conflict in Fryanovsk silk manufactory in 1812. On the documents of Russian State archive of ancients acts

Annotation

This article examines the juncture in Fryanovo settlement of Bogorodskiy area of the Moscow province in 1812 on the ground of the materials of the State Archives of the ancient acts. The assembly of people's volunteer corps of Fryanovo settlement and near village Aksenovo had led to the long-term judicial proceeding between the factory workers and the owner of the settlement and the silk factory, which continued until 1815.

Written by Gotovcova O.A.
Tuesday, 07 June 2022 04:55

Keywords

Source, Moscow volunteer corps, Fryanovo settlement, silk manufacture, Yekim Lazarev, factory workers, disturbances

Download the article: pdf

About the authors

Gotovcova Oksana Alexandrovna - chief keeper of the funds of the Museum of History and Local Lore of the settlement. Fryanovo, Applicant of the Department of Russian History and Archival Studies, St. Tikhon Orthodox Humanitarian University, Moscow; 8-926-455-79-27; oksana@frya.ru

You can read completely article in the russian historic-archival magazine “The Herald of an Archivist”. Read more about terms of subscription here .

Полностью материал публикуется в российском историко-архивоведческом журнале ВЕСТНИК АРХИВИСТА. Ознакомьтесь с условиями подписки здесь .

Conflict in Fryanovsk silk manufactory in 1812. On the documents of Russian State archive of ancients ac

Written by Gotovcova O.A.

Tuesday, 07 June 2022 04:55
